

The present trail follows what was once a cow lane. Imagine a line of cows going to pasture or coming back to the barn for milking time.

Cows Coming Up the Lane

Here is a picture of the cow lane when it was covered with snow in April, 1969. Note the barbed wire fence on each side. In summer, it kept the cows from wandering into the field.

